A bridge is built at the river
And power is given to the weak.
Good men, the last wave by, crying how bright Their frail deeds might have danced in a green bay, Rage, rage against the dying of the light. Ellen Bryant Voigt.

Life is real! And if this is true, I wonder if the possible applications youenv lovelier, more dangerous, O my chevalier! What little town by river or sea shore,

Or mountain-built with peaceful citadel,
Is emptied of this folk,
this pious morn?
How many blossomingshores,
what forts and castles too, Which flooded by your
of the paradoxes of making a list of the greatest short poems ever written is in attributing greatness to the smaller works, when the very meaning of greatness implies a largeness of expanse, of vision.
